We've entered the digital age of photography and I've decided to share all the advantages of digital photography with my clients. Instead of restricting your ability to print and share your wedding photos with watermarks and low resolution files, your final images are delivered on a DVD with no copyright protection. This can save you hundreds of dollars on reprints and enlargements. You can have your images printed at any lab of your choice, you can post them on the web, scrapbook, or manipulate your images on your own computer. I review each and every image prior to delivery. I do some basic retouching as well as creative treatments i.e. colorize, black and white, etc. to select images. All delivered images are print ready.
